

spiritual, and intellectual components. The class looks at the nature, scope, and function of major health considerations. This class does not meet the physical education activity requirement for AA degree. Semester offered: Fall and Spring.

HLTH-295/299 SPTO: (Special Topics) 1-3 cr.
Special or specific topic course to meet the needs of students. Topics and credits are announced in the Schedule of Classes. These courses may be used as electives for Associate degree requirements. May be repeated one or more times for additional credit. No more than 6 credits of special topic courses can be used toward a degree.

HISTORY

HIST-105 SPIN: (Special Interest) 1-3 cr.
Course is designed to address a variety of subjects required to meet the needs of lifelong learning students. Not available for transfer or applicable as an elective.

HIST-121 Western Civilization to 1700 3 cr.
Examines the intellectual, social, economic, cultural, and political evolution of Western Civilization from the origins of the humanity to 1700. Topics covered include ancient civilizations, the Middle Ages, the Renaissance, the Reformation, and the Scientific Revolution. Classes include lecture and discussion components. Prerequisites: ENGL 099, RDNG 095. Semester offered: - Fall, Spring and Summer.[NM Common Course Number HIST 1053, Area V: Humanities/Fine Arts Core]

HIST-122 Western Civilization from 1700 3 cr.
Examines the intellectual, social, economic, cultural, and political evolution of Western civilization Since 1700. Topics covered include the Enlightenment, the French Revolution, industrialism, nineteenth century thought, two world wars, and the Cold War. Classes include lecture and discussion components. Prerequisites: ENGL 099, RDNG 095. Semester offered: Fall, Spring and Summer.[NM Common Course Number HIST 1063, Area V: Humanities/Fine Arts Core]

HIST-211 U.S. History to 1865 3 cr.
Introduces students to the history of the United States from its beginnings to the end of the Civil War. It focuses on the central themes and issues while examining the political, economic, social, intellectual and cultural developments of the era. Classes include lecture and discussion components. Prerequisite: RDNG 113. Corequisite: ENGL 111 or permission of instructor. Semester offered: - Fall, Spring and Summer.[NM Common Course Number HIST 1113, Area V: Humanities/Fine Arts Core]

HIST-212 U.S. History From 1865 3 cr.
Introduces students to the history of the United States from the end of the Civil War to the present. It focuses on the central themes and issues while examining the political, economic, social, intellectual and cultural developments of the era. Classes include lecture and discussion components. Prerequisite: RDNG 113. Corequisite: ENGL 111 or permission of instructor. Semester offered: - Fall, Spring and Summer. [NM Common Course Number HIST 1123, Area V: Humanities/Fine Arts Core]

HIST-221 Colonial Latin America 3 cr.
Examines the major civilizations of pre-conquest Central and South America, the Spanish and Portuguese Conquests, and the colonial history of Latin America to the completion of the independence movements of the early 19th century. Classes include lecture and discussion components. Prerequisite: RDNG 113. Corequisites: ENGL 111 or permission of instructor. Semester offered: Fall. Even years.

HIST-222 Modern Latin America 3 cr.
Examines the nation building process of Latin America following independence in the early 19th century to the present. Latin America will be investigated in the context of the larger world community. Classes include lecture and discussion components. Prerequisite: RDNG 113. Corequisites: ENGL 111 or permission of instructor. Semester offered: Spring, odd years.

HIST-260 New Mexico History 3 cr.
Examines the history of New Mexico from the earliest times to the present, concentrating on the political, economic, social, and cultural changes that have occurred. Classes include lecture and discussion components. Prerequisite: RNDG 113. Corequisites: ENGL 111 or permission of instructor. Semester offered: Fall, Spring and Summer. [NM Common Course Number HIST 2113, Area V: Humanities/Fine Arts Core]

HIST-270 Native American History 3 cr.
Introduces the history of Native peoples of North America from the earliest times to the present. The course will examine cultural change, the interaction of native groups with each other and especially with European peoples. Classes include lecture and discussion components. Prerequisite: RDNG 113. Corequisites: ENGL 111 or permission of instructor. Semester offered: Fall. Even Years.

HIST-272 Navajo History 3 cr.
Introduces the history of the Navajo with supporting ethnographic material. The course begins with the entrance of the Diné into the Southwest and continues to the present, with a concentration on the 20th century political and economic development. Offered in collaboration with Diné College (NIS 211). Prerequisites: ENGL 099 and RDNG 095. Semester offered: Spring, even-numbered years.

HIST-274 Federal Indian Policy 3 cr.
Examines the history of the legal and political relationships between the United States federal government and the various Native American tribes. Classes include lecture and discussion components. Prerequisite: RDNG 113. Corequisites: ENGL 111 or permission of instructor. Semester offered: Spring. Odd Years.

HIST-295/299 SPTO: (Special Topics) 1-3 cr.
Special or specific topic course to meet the needs of students. Topics and credits are announced in the Schedule of Classes. These courses may be used as electives for Associate degree requirements. May be repeated one or more times for additional credit. No more than 6 credits of special topic courses can be used toward a degree.